Big turnout for Boise strikers at solidarity parade

A large turnout of strikers, fellow unionists from other unions, families of strikers and other supporters paraded through the streets of Rumford last Saturday in a tremendous show of solidarity for the paperworkers who are on strike against Boise Cascade.

Rumford Police Sergeant Joseph Massey, keeping watch over the orderly parade, estimated there were at least 1,500 marchers. There were probably another 1,000 cheering supporters along the parade route. "It's the biggest one I've seen in the six years I've been here," Sgt. Massey told The Citizen.

The march began at Local #900's strike headquarters on Waldo Street and proceeded down Waldo Street, across the bridge onto the island, down Congress Street, back up Canal Street, back over the bridge and thence to Hosmer Field where AFL/CIO leaders and politicians made speeches in support of the paperworkers in their fight against Boise. Nearly 1,200 paperworkers have been on

Hog stops traffic at Trap Corner store

Early-morning drivers Sunday stopped and wondered about the hog wandering around by the gas pumps at the Trap Corner Superette.

Store owner Jerry DeShon said her staff called her when they opened the store at 6 a.m. and told her there was a hog on the premises. She thought they were either kidding or that there was a piglet that strayed from somewhere.

But she learned different. "He was running around out here," she said afterwards. "And it wasn't a little pig—it was a full-grown pig." A boar, she said.

Workers at the garage, next door, came and corralled it. Mrs. DeShon said it was returned to its owner—believed to be the Lang family on Rte. 26.

Vision into future for Bethel and its environs is workshop topic Friday

A Vision Into the Future for Bethel and neighboring small towns will be the topic of a special workshop co-sponsored by the NTL/Bethel Liaison Committee and the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program on Friday, Aug. 8, from 4:30 p.m. at the Crescent Park School in Bethel. Ron Lippitt and Paula Luginani of NTL will introduce the concept of community futureing and techniques of involving citizens in the process of identifying community goals and of working to achieve those goals.

The workshop is open to community members from the area and should be of special interest to those serving on boards of selectmen, school directors, planning boards, as well as citizens who are interested in being involved in planned change in their community. Pre-registration is requested and those who wish to attend may call the Bethel Town Office, 824-2660, or the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Office, 824-2780.

HORSEBACK RIDERS WERE, AS USUAL, A BIG PART of the Olde Home Day parade in Andover last Saturday. A large crowd was in town to enjoy the festivities.

Electricians refuse to cross picket line as contract expires

The 60 members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) at Boise Cascade's Rumford Mill stopped work as their contract expired July 31. While they have not gone on strike, they are declining to go into the plant without a contract. The membership voted July 30, 46-14, to reject the company's final offer.

Union President Jerome Kidder explained the situation: "They gave us a final offer, about the same as [UPIU Local] 900's. Under the circumstances it was kind of hard for us to sign." He said no union member has crossed the paperworkers' picket line since the contract expired.

Mr. Kidder cited the following points of the proposed contract as especially galling to union members: the flexibility issue, the elimination of double-time for Sunday work, the reduction of vacation pay from 48 hours a week to 40 hours a week, and the elimination of a set 20-minute lunch break.

[Lunch breaks had been paid for as part of salary. The company contends that a set break restricts management's freedom to call on the services of a worker if he or she is needed right away. Mr. Kidder disputes this. "In the past, if we were having lunch (and something needed tending to) we'd just go out." Additionally, under the old contract, if workers were called upon to do overtime,

Sun shines for Andover's Olde Home Day celebration

Despite forecasts of doom from the weathermen, the sun came out clear and hot last Saturday for Andover's annual Olde Home Day celebration. Sharon Hutchins, who had one of the flea market tables on the Common, said she did a lot of praying during the drizzly night.

The sunshine brought out a large crowd, both of Andover residents as well as summer visitors to the area.

Highlights of the day were the parade, led by antique cars and an American Legion color guard, the woodsmen's contest, the quilt show, the flower show, the church food sale, the cow chip tossing contest, the arm-wrestling contest and the various tables and activities on the common. The volunteer firefighters provided their tasty chicken barbecue lunch. The theme of the day was: Andover, a Home for All Seasons.

Judges Dave Anderson, Michael Bean and Rex Thurston judged Heidi Bean's pie the best of the two dozen they sampled in the pie contest. The pies were then sold to raise money for new robes for the choir of the Congregational Church.

They were furnished meals by the company on company time.]

Mr. Kidder summarized the feelings of the union members towards the company's final offer: "They just wanted too much at one time."

Comprehensive Plan gets public hearing

Bethel's updated Comprehensive Plan will be presented and discussed at a public hearing tonight, Wednesday, at 7 p.m., in the Telstar lecture hall.

The plan outlines the geographic, economic, demographic and environmental situations facing the town and makes some specific recommendations concerning measures the town should take to maintain the character of the town.

Meeting on Umbagog hydroelectric project tomorrow in Andover

An informational meeting on a proposed hydroelectric project for Umbagog and Richardson lakes will be held tomorrow (Thursday) at the Andover town hall at 7 p.m.

The project envisions utilizing the channeled waters of Lake Umbagog and the Rapid River to produce 20 megawatts of electricity, which would be sold to Central Maine Power. The developer, Swift River/Hafslund Inc., of Portland, has obtained a three-year permit from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission to conduct economic and environmental studies on the suitability of the project.

Officials from Swift River/Hafslund will be the ones conducting the meeting tomorrow, in order to answer citizen concerns about the project. A similar

Sudbury Canada Days in Bethel this weekend

A wide variety of activities are planned for the 17th annual Sudbury Canada Days, Bethel Historic Society's summer heritage festival, to be held this year on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 9 and 10. Festivities will be held in and about the Dr. Moses Mason House overlooking the Bethel Common and there is no admission charge.

Leading the list of events will be the annual children's parade which will be held on the grounds of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 1 p.m. The theme this year is "Heroes and Heroines" and children are urged to appear in the guise of their favorite character. Prizes will be awarded in several categories to those judged to be the most outstanding. Judges this year are MaryBeth Bayerlein, Amy Davis and Marvin Juwanga. This event is under the leadership of Mary Giles.

Also at 1 p.m. the flower show under the joint chairmanship of Barbara H. Brown and Gertrude Hutchins will open. Anyone having bouquets of wild or cut flowers in old containers is cordially invited to bring them to the Dr. Moses Mason House for display among the artifacts. The historical film series will be held both Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Old-time children's games will be under the guidance of Les Otten and Gordon Giles once again this year.

There will also be a wide variety of craft exhibits and demonstrations. Scheduled this year are Elizabeth Lord, continued on Page Three

Opinions

Free trade means more trade

With the U.S. economy slowing down, cries are increasing for protectionism from foreign imports. The argument, enunciated locally by Maine AFL-CIO President Charles O'Leary at the union solidarity rally in Rumford Saturday, is that imports take away domestic jobs.

Mr. O'Leary suggested that Americans not purchase shirts made in Taiwan or cars made in Japan. (He might have also included VCR's made in Korea, suits made in Hong Kong, furniture made in Portugal, wine made in France, whiskey made in Scotland, watches made in Switzerland, chocolates made in Germany, tea from China, coffee from Brazil, olives from Spain, cheese from Denmark, sweaters from Ireland... the list is endless.)

If Mr. O'Leary—and others with a similar sort of locked vision—had had the way, American railroads would still be using steam locomotives in order to preserve the jobs of firemen and American newspapers would still be using Linotypes (as The Citizen did until last year) in order to preserve the jobs of Linotype operators.

The basic fact of economic development is that economies change. As certain jobs and occupations are done away with, new and different jobs and occupations are generated.

A closed economy—as suggested by Mr. O'Leary and others—protected by import barriers, will strangle economic growth. Because consumers will have to pay more for those goods that would be cheaper if imported, the general cost-of-living, and thus the cost-of-production, will rise. This then makes goods produced in this closed economy too expensive for other nations to buy. The effect is less trade and less prosperity.

President Reagan is correct to stand firm against calls for protectionism. If Mr. O'Leary could see past his next paycheck he would realize that the only way for the American economy to grow is to be able to produce more—and have foreign markets to sell to. A growing economy means more jobs. Trade barriers to protect existing jobs means slow strangulation and, ultimately, loss of the existing jobs that we had set out to protect.

A note from the publisher

In a summer marked by cool and rainy weather, the coolest and rainiest weather of the season occurred last week, when Mary and I went sailing on Lake Champlain. (And that is why, Alanson Cummings, you will see no photos of French-Canadians sunbathing in the altogether on their boats.) There were plenty of French-Canadians—as usual. And plenty of boats—as usual. But no sun; so no sunbathing.

Still, it was good to get away, to live for a week in a different environment, to face different problems, to have time together to get re-acquainted—with one another and with ourselves.

A vacation should clear the mind of everyday concerns, and nothing helps accomplish that better than having to cope with new situations. For example, a thunderstorm is approaching: which part of St. Albans Bay (where we were cruising at the time) do you seek shelter in? Food and ice are running low: where do you sail to to get more? The wind is from the Northeast: of the half-dozen anchorages within easy reach, which will be the most secure? There's very little wind: do you stay where you are or figure you have enough fuel to motor to a marina? The wind is light but looks like it may get strong: do you put on light air sails or heavy air sails?

Ah, the problems of modern life. Certainly the trappers and traders and warships that used the Champlain waterway didn't have similar problems. But certainly they had similar ones. How much food to bring on an expedition or campaign; how much gunpowder; clothing for what sort of weather, etc., etc.

With the French-Canadians all over the lake, the sense of history is very strong. After all, British and Colonials chased the French off the lake during the French and Indian War, Americans invaded Quebec from the lake during the Revolutionary War, and British invaded America from the lake in that war as well as in the War of 1812.

History and the present clash strongly as you sit on your boat at anchor in a cove of Valcour Island, where Indian, French, British, Americans all camped or anchored before, and you open a beer and turn on the portable TV on board to watch the nightly news.

On the screen flash pictures of Russians on a peep trip cruising down the Mississippi on a paddle-wheeler, bringing into sharp focus the reality that unless ordinary people really work for peace, national leaders will readily get their countries into war.

One night, Tom Brokaw was talking about the death of Averill Harriman, a statesman whose life started in the era of coal and ended in the era of atoms. It made me think that there is nothing wrong with taking advantage of all the modern devices we have, such as TV; what is foolish, however, is to disregard the fact that human history is long and rich and didn't begin with rock and roll and Disneyland.

This is possibly America's greatest fault—the fact that we honor newness and eschew history. And not without reason. America was, after all, the new land. And immigrants came here to get away from the past. But without a past, a person—or a nation—simply floats. To be anchored in a tradition is to be able to know where you are, and where you're heading.

For this reason, I very much like the motto on the Quebec license plates (there are Quebec cars at every marina around the lake). The motto says: "Je me souviens"—I will remember.

So thoroughly do many French-Canadians remember that Quebec once belonged to France that they have repeatedly tried to break with their English-heritage compatriots in the other provinces. And they are more comfortable speaking French than English. Which makes a visit to Montreal or Quebec City a real foreign vacation. But which doesn't make for a unified nation.

English-heritage Quebec residents feel themselves an underclass minority—similar to the Tories in America during the Revolutionary War.

At anchor one evening, with scores of boats around us flying the blue-and-white fleur-de-lis flag of Quebec as one would fly a national ensign, a "Tory" rowed by and complained: "There are 'blue-and-whites' all over the place, and those people don't even have a country."

That gentleman, ironically, flew from the stern of his boat, the flag of the former Imperial Germany.

While America's greatest fault may be the lack of an appreciation of history, the fault of the Quebecois may be that they have too great a sense of history—to the point where they cannot see the modern reality.

But on Lake Champlain, anchored a few hundred yards from where Benedict Arnold's hurriedly assembled fleet was defeated by a fleet of the Royal Navy, one is quite aware of the sense of the Quebec motto: I will remember.

And, of course, what is important to remember—and being with the French-Canadians for a week reinforces this—is that history is not just a record of events. History is the story of where we come from.

After sailing and anchoring and swimming and watching the evening news and cooking supper and washing dishes, evenings on the lake were given over to reading.

My book for the trip was English veterinarian James Herriot's tales of practicing his profession in Yorkshire. The man has a great sense of humility and is an excellent chronicler of the human (and animal) condition.

Now having gotten a taste of the book, I'll probably become, like John Gray, an avid viewer of the TV series of the same name—"All Creatures Great and Small"—on Channel 10 on Sundays.

WITH BANNER, FLAGS, AND POSTERS, BOISE STRIKERS and their local and statewide supporters marched over the bridge and onto the island Saturday.

Local police estimated there were over 1,500 marchers. After the march, union leaders and politicians made speeches at Hosmer Field.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Last week your Upton correspondent mentioned common courtesy in her column. One who lives in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

Yesterday, July 31, 1986, your Upton reporter hit and killed my 9 year old Irish setter at the end of my driveway in full view of family, children, and guests on Back Street in Upton, and the driver (?) failed to stop the vehicle, and after having to be pursued, was completely void of any compassion.

It is common knowledge that our family has strong endeared feelings towards its pet and those of others... How quickly people are willing to erase 22 years of loving and devoted friendship.

In memory of Kerry,
Margaret Dapollito
Upton

To the Editor:

Let's take a moment to remember how those weeks felt earlier this year, when we were caught up in the struggle with the DOE over nuclear waste disposal—the outrage, the sense of absurdity, and sometimes a sense of our own strength and power... Well, now we're not feeling the pressure so directly. The DOE's plans for Maine are on the back burner at least for the moment, plus a successful citizens' petition drive has secured us an opportunity to vote our will on the continued production of nuclear waste in our state.

But Maine is still under an imminent and nearby threat. I'm talking about the Seabrook Nuclear Power Station in New Hampshire. Seabrook looks on the map to be about 13 miles from the Maine border, 65 miles away from my home in Hiram, and not significantly farther from the Bethel area. As the Chernobyl disaster demonstrated, a nuclear accident can affect areas hundreds, and even thousands of miles away. In Sweden, some 800 miles from the site, fish were found contaminated with 100 times the "permissible" level of Cesium-137. Sixty-five, eighty, a hundred miles—that's not so far as the wind blows. And of course the nitty-gritty question remains: What about the waste? Can we continue to produce it in good conscience?

According to federal regulations, Seabrook cannot be licensed for full operation in the absence of approved evacuation plans. Directly north and south of the plant are beaches that draw up to 100,000 people on summer weekends, with a two-lane highway the only access road. Many towns within the 10-mile radius in question (a ridiculously small area in light of Chernobyl's aftermath) have voted to reject the proposed evacuation plans. Governor Dukakis has also expressed very serious reservations about evacuation planning for affected Massachusetts communities.

However, the NRC has allowed Seabrook a loophole. Fuel may be loaded and the reactor may be started up and operated at 5 percent capacity—known as low-power testing—without a full operating license. If low-power testing takes place, the facility will be radioactive.

Arts council books programs for autumn

The Mahosuc Arts Council—the recently formed area group devoted to sponsoring arts activities in local schools and in the community—has already lined up some artists for this fall.

Council members Carol Fiske and Bonnie Pooley have tentatively booked the Mandela dance group for a performance on Nov. 22nd, and Kitchen Sink Mime and Jim Scott to hold school workshops Oct. 9 and Oct. 30 respectively.

With the help of attorney Gordon Gillies, the group is working on becoming incorporated and obtaining non-profit status.

The council has been meeting every other Monday evening at The Sudbury Inn.

Army Private Steven K. Alanskas, son of Phyllis P. and John R. Alanskas of Rural Route 2, East Seneham, was arrived for duty with the 56th Field Artillery Command, West Germany. Alanskas is a motor transport operator.

tively contaminated, making it much more difficult and expensive to convert the plant to another fuel. Seems reckless in view of the possibility that the plant may be unlicensed for full operation, doesn't it? Or does this set up a momentum for rubber-stamp licensing regardless of the facts.

Although it is difficult to pin down just when this low power testing may begin, it could be as soon as sometime this month. There has been active citizen opposition to the operation of Seabrook for 10 years, and it is growing and intensifying as the projected start-up looms closer. The Clamshell Alliance (Box 734, Concord, N.H., tel. 603-224-4163) is coordinating this activity. They have announced plans for a legal demonstration and nonviolent civil disobedience at the gates of Seabrook on Saturday, Aug. 9. The rally, with the theme No Chernobyl Here!, will begin at 1 p.m. at the Old South Meeting House, across Route 1 from the South Gate of Seabrook. Following the rally, at 3 p.m., affinity groups trained in non-violence will attempt to block construction at the plant by sitting down in front of the gates.

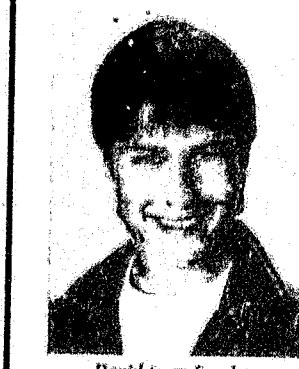

Also, letters need to be written—to newspapers, to our folks in Congress, to the NRC, to Gov. Sununu of New Hampshire, and to our own governor and gubernatorial candidates to ask what's being done to protect the interests of the people of Maine in this matter. Maine people did a tremendous job of standing up to the DOE; we've proved that we have the strength and will to respond to the challenges of living in these nuclear times. Let's direct some of that powerful anti-dump sentiment towards meeting the Seabrook challenge.

Erminie Burke, of Mexico, and her friends, cheered as the union marchers passed by on Congress Street, Rumford, last Saturday. Mrs. Burke said her husband had been a Boise worker and a union supporter. "He worked so hard for it, and it'll all be gone... because they (the government) don't want it (the unions)."

BIG TURNOUT FOR SOLIDARITY

strike since July 1 after declining Boise's "final contract offer."
The union has particularly objected to the flexible work assignments Boise is trying to institute in the mill. Under this provision, management would be able to assign workers to jobs other than the job classifications they hold.
Joining in the solidarity march and rally were unionists from railroad, shipbuilding, electrical and other unions, from various parts of Maine as well as from other New England states. There were no incidents reported as a result of the march, during which marchers chanted slogans against Boise and against Rumford Police Chief Dewey Robinson. (He has testified in superior court in favor of the restraining order limiting the number of pickets at the Boise gates.)
As the strike entered its fifth week, rumors began circulating in Rumford that a settlement was near, but there was little hard evidence to support the rumors.

The only indication that the company was becoming more interested in settling with the strikers was the fact that no replacement workers had been hired. When the company began taking applications for replacement workers three weeks ago, a spokesman said a new workforce would be given the jobs of the strikers within 10 days, unless the strikers returned to work.
This has not happened, and a spokesman this week told The Citizen there was no time frame for hiring new workers. Although applications are continuing to be accepted at the Rumford mill and in Rutland, Vt., the company is still simply interviewing and testing applicants. "Although we're getting near, we're not putting anyone on yet," noted company spokesman Andrew Drysdale.

Mr. Drysdale acknowledged the general negative reaction to Boise's announced plan to replace strikers. "We're sensitive to the public reaction to that," he said, "but not putting people on has nothing to do with that."
He reiterated previous company statements that management would like to avoid hiring new workers. "This is obviously not the best way to go. We'd really like people to come back from the strike."

Speaking before the Rumford Rotary Club Monday, mill manager Doug Daniels said he was determined to run an efficient and profitable operation. "If [the mill] truly has not been a profitable venture since 1979... We will do what is necessary to make this a prosperous, viable operation. We'd rather do it with the workers that have historically been there."

He admitted that the lack of profitability was not simply due to inefficient use of labor. He also cited a top-heavy management team, bad investments and poor production mix.

But inefficiencies on the job was what he wanted to eliminate with the new contract. Under the old contract, he pointed out, if the paper-wrapping machine broke down, the paper-wrapping workers could not be ordered to wrap the rolls of paper by hand, since their specialty was specifically running the machine. Thus, other workers would have to be called in to wrap the paper, while the wrapping-machine workers would be sent home because they could not be ordered to do any other jobs.

"That really isn't very productive; it isn't very efficient; and it isn't very smart," Mr. Daniels said. "What we're looking for is a contract that will improve the efficiency and prosperity of this plant. ... What we're trying to do is address the amount of time that machinery sits idle because of work rules."

UNION MEMBERS FROM ALL OVER THE STATE were in Rumford Saturday to support UPIU Local 900 in its strike against Boise. Over 1,500 people took part in the march and another 1,000 lined the route and cheered the marchers.

Asked if management would be willing to sit down with the union to continue negotiating a new contract, Mr. Daniels said he would be willing to sit down and clarify certain points of the company's final offer. He implied that the final offer was non-negotiable.

The company, under prodding from a federal mediator in late June, had offered to continue negotiating past the June 30 deadline. The union refused and walked out. Since then, the union has said it wants to continue negotiating. The company has said the "final offer" is final.

Company spokesman Drysdale elaborated: "At this point we feel we're at a point where we've given as much as we can. The contract has some ideas that we need to run this mill. We're certainly willing to sit down and clarify some points. But we're not willing to negotiate again."
Meanwhile, NLRB (National Labor Relations Board) officials were in Rumford earlier this week to continue their investigation into charges of unfair labor practices made by both the company and the union. An NLRB official told The Citizen a preliminary finding will be announced late next week. (See original story in The Citizen, July 23.)

by Helen Morton will be held both days on the lawn of Ned Hastings next to the Dr. Moses Mason House.

At 2 p.m. the badminton, horseshoe and croquet tournaments will be held. Participants are needed and prizes will be awarded. The annual ice cream eating contest for children under 12 years of age will also commence at 2 p.m. At four in the afternoon there will be the annual drawing for the door prize, followed by the log driver's bean supper at 5 p.m. and the old-time variety show at 7 p.m. which will feature a large variety of talent.

Sunday morning will feature an early New England church service at the West Parish Congregational Church conducted by Dr. Harold Witke. In the afternoon the flower and art shows will continue along with the historical film series.

Sudbury Canada Days honors 200 years of Bethel history and takes its name from the original name of the town in use between 1768 and 1796.

Anyone wishing further information on Sudbury Canada Days should call the Bethel Historical Society at 824-2908.

ELECTRICIANS REFUSE

Both sides have called for a federal mediator, but no date has been set for a meeting with a mediator. The last time the union and the company negotiated was July 18.

"I imagine they [the company] will say we're at an impasse, but we're not. They just won't talk with us," Mr. Kidder said. In the absence of the electricians, contract workers from Alabama are doing the electrical maintenance in the mill, Mr. Kidder said.

Meanwhile, at Boise's Sheldon Springs, Vt., mill, the 120 striking paperworkers accepted the company's "final offer" and returned to work last week. The contract was essentially the same as the one offered the strikers in Rumford, according to a company spokesman. He said the flexibility clause is the same while the economic benefits in the Rumford contract are better.

Rotary Club notes

The Bethel Rotary Club held a board of directors meeting at the Casco Northern Bank at 7 a.m. on Aug. 5. Business matters and discussions included appropriations and donation, attendance requirements, group student visits, the District Governor's visit and social, committee work needs, and other subjects of club business.

The meeting held at the Sudbury Inn at 12 noon was a club assembly at which time the business of the morning meeting was presented to the membership for their information and approval as appropriate.

Visiting Rotarians and guests joining with the group were, Bill Lowthers, Bonton, N.J.; Chas. Feld, Marco Island, Fla.; Gil Robinson, Wilmington, Del.; Jim Wiswall, Birmingham, Ala., and David Brown, guest of the Rotary Club.

Romeo Baker was awarded the "booty" as this week's winner. President Dave Preble is back on the job from his honeymoon in Bermuda. From his first-hand report they had a whale of a good time, lucked out on the weather, and had a tan to prove it.

Welcome back Dave and Becky. President Dave briefed the members present on the subject matter discussed at the board of directors meeting, appointed various committee members, and talked about club programming associated with the District Governor's annual visit on Aug. 18-19. He also spoke of a Spanish student group sponsorship planned for the summer of 1987.

The subject of changing meeting time received a lovely discussion. Many interesting points of view were stated by the members present. More on this subject later, perhaps.

Local haymakers help drought-stricken farmers

Local farmers helped their fellow agriculturalists in the drought-stricken South this week by contributing to the trainload of hay that left Portland Monday.

Linda Harrington, of Sunday River Road, Sam McCoy, of the Northwest Bethel Road, and Rodney Leach, of West Paris, were among a dozen county farmers who donated bales of hay to ease the plight of southern farmers unable to make hay because of the lack of rain. The average donation was 100 bales, although one farmer in Colebrook, N.H., gave 2,000 bales.

The statewide effort was organized by the University of Maine Cooperative Extension Service. In Oxford County, the organizers were Elizabeth Pollack, Steve Linscott and Rusty Clark of the Oxford County Extension Service.

Dump trucks of the National Guard visited the farms over the weekend to pick up the hay. It was loaded onto rail cars provided by Guilford Industries (the owner of the Maine Central R.R.) and left for South Carolina early this week.

Mrs. Harrington said the hay she donated came from the first cutting off the old fairgrounds, near the Bethel airport, and was part of 5,000 bales her family makes on an average first cutting. The field belongs to her husband and brother-in-law—Gerald and Franklin Harrington.

Normally she uses the hay for their cattle and quarterhorses, in addition to selling some of it. She was happy to be able to donate some to the southern farmers, however. "I know I would appreciate it if it was the other way around," she said.

Bartlett honored as

"Tree Farmer of Year"

Clark Bartlett of East Bethel was honored last Saturday as Maine's "Tree Farmer of the Year," at the first joint field day of the Small Woodland Owners of Maine (SWOAM) and the Maine Tree Farm Committee.

An attendance of more than a hundred was present to honor Mr. Bartlett and to tour a variety of woodland exhibits at his 700 acre farm. Exhibit topics included boundary line maintenance, water quality control, white pine management, wildlife management, and road building and maintenance.

This was the second time Mr. Bartlett had been honored as Maine's outstanding tree farmer, having previously been accorded the honor in 1982.

The Bartlett farm has been worked by the same family since colonial times, when maple syrup was its chief product.

Included as co-sponsors of Saturday's events were the University of Maine Extension Service and Boise Cascade. Also attending were representatives of the Maine Farm Bureau, Maine Forest Products Council, Maine Association of Consulting Foresters, and the Maine Forest Service.

Maine Kimballs holding reunion Aug. 24

On Sunday, Aug. 24, a get together of descendants of Richard Kimball (Rattlesden, England) of Ipswich, Mass., is announced by the Maine chairman, Gordon Kimball of Gray. All who claim a Kimball grandparent are invited. This reunion as in 1983 is being held in the meeting room of the Bethel Historical Society's Moses Mason House, in the Historic District on Broad Street.

Registration will start at 10 a.m., when coffee and breads will be served by Bethel area Kimballs. At noon any who wish may picnic on the spacious lawn, or in the case of inclement weather, take their brown bags into the meeting room. Any who prefer will find a variety of eating places nearby, including the Bethel Inn, across the Common.

The Moses Mason House is open to the public between 1-4 p.m. Those attending the reunion will have the opportunity to tour in groups conducted by costumed guides.

At 2 p.m., Gordon Kimball will call a meeting for discussion of any matters of interest by the Kimballs attending.

From 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. genealogical assistance will be available. All persons desiring such help should bring information they already have collected.

For information on the reunion, telephone Mrs. Elizabeth Mason Carter, who is charge of local arrangements: telephone 1-207-836-2343.

FAMILY REUNION

On July 12, about 60 descendants of Herbert S. and Nettie P. McAllister met at the home of Mrs. Elaine Packard, Bethel, for a family reunion. There were grandchildren from California, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Maine present. It is hoped that this may be made an annual affair.

Another of those damp and cloudy days here this morning. Makes a fellow feel as though they were getting moldy or water logged. However the rain has helped the garden and things are growing fairly good at last.

Russell has been busy keeping weeds out as much as possible and has picked peas and string beans for us to take care of. Have frozen some and canned some wax beans so feel that we have gotten a start on taking care of vegetables for winter use. I had to get the freezer overhauled the other day so we could put the different vegetables together, and hopefully, know where they are when we want them. It is a job for me as I can just barely touch the bottom of the freezer.

We are all enjoying the visit from our brother, Tom, who is here from Colorado. It seems so good to have him here for a little while. He has visited some of his friends and hopes to get to see more before having to go back to Colorado.

We had a family reunion last Sunday at the home of Martha and Elvie Birney in Oxford and the bookkeeper, who had everyone sign their names, said that there were nearly 90 that came before the day was over. I threatened to rain but didn't do much but mist so all had a good time seeing some of the relatives that we only see at reunion time. We call it the Rowe reunion as it started from Mother's side of the family, her mother's folks. Everyone brings whatever they think of for lunch and it always turns out to be quite a spread for all to enjoy. Some didn't come till after lunch but were greeted well and enjoyed their visit, I am sure. We have one of Doris Hayes' granddaughters who is making a record of all the folks in the family and hopes to have a book on them. She gets around when she can to get information and is real interested in the family background and the present, also. It was interesting to see the old pictures she had and was trying to find out who they were. It is fun to find out the family history and I hope she has good luck in getting all the names she can and what family they belong to.

Peggy was home for the weekend and didn't have to go back to Massachusetts until Wednesday, which was good. It gave her a chance to visit with Tom.

I was in North Bridgton on Monday, Tom taking me over to the doctors and then we went to visit Hazel Abbott, a friend whom I keep in touch with and Tom boarded with her years ago. She hasn't been too well and was glad to see us both.

Got home from our visit and found Russell had picked peas and was still picking so Tom started shelling and so did I. Peggy had had to go to town but when she got back, she joined us and we shelled while Russell picked. Froze up 23 pints so that is a start. On Tuesday, Russell picked string beans and we froze the purple podded ones and canned the wax ones so was busy that day.

Wednesday morning, Tom and I left early to go to Lewiston where I entered the hospital for some tests. Had to stay overnight and Thursday when I was discharged my daughter came to get me and took me to her home. Tom and Russell came to supper and then I came home with them. Was glad to get the tests over with but didn't find out as much as I had hoped to. That is usually the way it goes. Was real glad to get home and have a chance to get a good night of sleep. Not good at sleeping in a hospital at all.

I was sorry to miss the visit the boys had from Johnny Howe and Oliver; also, Margaret and Ralph Schurr. I haven't seen Margaret for years and knew her when I was a girl in school at Bryant Pond. I do get to see Olive as she gets to Grange and I see her there when I go. I want to apologize to Verna Swan as I don't think I got her name in as a visitor last week. She and one of her grandsons called a few minutes to see if we were alright. We always enjoy her visits.

Russell has some pretty dahlias that are blossoming and they are very different. He lost all the bulbs he had saved last winter so sent for a few this year and those that have blossomed have been real pretty. The everlastings and helichrysms are beginning to bud and will soon be blossoming. I hope to dry some of them to have to use in arts and crafts next winter. I have so many plans as to what I want to do but just don't seem to get everything done, even though my intentions are good. Something has to foul things for me, healthwise or otherwise.

Got to get busy and take care of some zucchinis. Wish me luck in freezing some for casseroles. We like them in all kinds of casseroles so am going to try slicing some and freezing them this year for that purpose. We have frozen the zucchini chopped but have never tried to freeze it sliced. I just hope we have good luck. I have a lot of the chopped frozen for bread and don't need to freeze more that way so will try it another way this year. The way things look, we will be able to supply the whole neighborhood with zucchini the way they grow.

Let's all wish for some sunshine to go with the rain we have had and guess we better pray for the rain to hit down south to help the farmers have feed for their livestock. A little praying for one another might be good for all of us so let's try and see if it will do any good.

I just talked with one of the members of West Paris Grange and she wanted to thank all the folks who have given papers for their chairlift, but the Grange has decided not to collect papers any more for the time being. They will rely on other fund raisers. The price on the papers has gone down and they don't take them in the summer so what they have has to be stored until the place reopens in the fall. Thanks again for all the cooperation from so many people. It has helped West Paris Grange to earn what they need to put in the chairlift and they are most grateful.

West Paris

By MIRIAM INMAN

Harlan and Ruth Powers of St. Albans were guests of Ivan and Ann Proctor during the weekend. They attended the dance in Canton where Ivan played with the Old Parisians orchestra. Ivan was the lucky winner of a beautiful quilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Davis, Larry and Nancy of Rochester, N.Y., were guests of their daughter and sister Sally and husband Bill Berry during the past weekend. They attended the christening of Daniel Berry at the West Sumner Universalist Church. Bill and Sally entertained with a chicken barbecue. Those present were: Don and Lee Berry, Kelly, Alison and Laura of West Sumner; Walter, Kim, Vernie and Waitie Inman; Vernon and Miriam Inman; Kenneth, Jill and Jerry Irons, Locke Mills; Larry and Laura Davis, Larry and Nancy of Rochester, N.Y.

Forward Fellowship met Monday, July 28 at the Rev. and Mrs. Weeks' farm with 12 present including the host and hostess. A potluck supper was enjoyed before the meeting. A report was given on the recent craft and food sale. The next meeting will be Aug. 25 at Beryl Bonney's cottage on Round Pond, Locke Mills. Pokemo was enjoyed after the business meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Otto (Marie Hilder) have returned to Polk City, Fla., after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ellingwood at their cottage on Pleasant Pond in West Sumner.

Louise Jackson of South Paris and Beryl Shaw of Minot have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ellingwood.

Many parents and grandparents attended the Little League baseball game between West Paris and Andover at Bethel last Saturday afternoon. It was a real close game and Lori Bean (the only girl on the team) was the one to start the scoring for West Paris by getting a hit in two successive innings. The final score was 5-3 West Paris. Then on Tuesday evening rain and drizzle failed to stop the West Paris Little League from continuing their winning ways. A large enthusiastic crowd was on hand to see West Paris win over Rumford Point 11-1, and receive the first place trophy for the season. Each member won a trophy.

West Paris had won 11 games and lost one (to Rumford Point) for the season. The West Paris Farm Team had a very successful season having won every game until Thursday night when Bryant Pond beat them in a play-off game, 9-5. These little folks do a great job and what fun it is to watch them!

Much credit goes to the boys and girls who play ball and especially to the coaches. We're sure proud of them. Mr. and Mrs. Drew Sholl and Kirby of Healdtown, N.J., left Thursday after spending a week with Gordon and Sally Doughty.

Mrs. Elsie Pirainen has returned home from Ledgeview Nursing Home where she had been for six weeks recuperating from hip surgery after her fall on June 9.

Benjamin Merrill, Waterford, is having his turn visiting his grandparents, Ivan and Ann Proctor.

The Eleanor B. Forbes Goodwill Group will meet at Carl and Lettie Brooks' farm on Tuesday, August 12 for dinner and meeting. Each one is to bring a salad.

THE NEW MINISTER AT THE BETHEL UNITED METHODIST CHURCH is Rev. Lisa A. Vonderheide. She and her husband Mark and their son Benjamin, aged 3, moved to Bethel from Fairhaven, Mass., where she was assistant minister of the local Methodist church. She also ran a summer program for low-income minority children and taught a Sunday School class for Korean children. She holds a B.A. in Sociology from Southeastern Massachusetts University and an M.Div. from Bangor Theological Seminary. The congregation of the church will hold an open house for the Vonderheides this Sunday, Aug. 10.

Callers of Georgie Fraser were her brother, Charles of East Andover; Marion Ladd and Laura Hutchins, Rumford Point; her niece, Mary Smith, husband and daughter of East Andover.

Louise Elliott, Rumford Point, visited Dorothy Elliott on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman White and Elizabeth Sennett were in Togus where Norman had a dental appointment recently.

Dorothy Elliott went shopping with Rose Dugway one day.

Florence Hall spent the weekend in Bristol, Vt., visiting her nephew Keith Hall and family.

Louise Powell, Hale, visited her mother, Alma Hewey.

Bernice Glover has been visiting with relatives in Hollis for the past week.

Ann Fox and Dorothy Elliott attended the Thursday luncheon at the C.E.B.

Madeleine Wentzell had visitors from Nova Scotia.

Gertrude Hutchins and Florence Hall were shopping in Bethel and Rumford on Thursday.

Gloria Chamberlain and two boys, Madison, spent a few days at "The Farm" with her mother, Catherine McGuire recently.

Thought for the Day

Instead of complaining of the thorns among roses, we should be thankful there are roses among the thorns.—Anon.

The hostesses will be Lettie Brooks, Myrtle Bonney and Louie Coffin. The program will be "Interesting Experience."

Avis Ellingwood, librarian, reports that the contest "Find the Space Station" is completed. The big winners were: Kim Kangas, Tovah Everett, Jason Bradeen, Candice Campbell, Carrie Troup and Chad Chase. Mrs. Ellingwood had a party for all the children who participated.

Punch and cookies were served. Each child received a prize and certificate. This endeavor surely promotes good reading habits.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE DAVIS

Marta Clements and Althea Hathaway are co-sharing the Cancer Drive in Woodstock. Althea is taking Bryant Pond area and Marta has South Woodstock. Marta has recruited volunteers and welcome them when they call at your door for donations. The volunteers are Stacy Wilbur and Lisa Thurlow for Pleasant Valley and Koskela Road; Gean Grover, Curtis Hill Road; Marguerite Verrill, Route 26 and Marta will solicit Andrews Road.

Marta Clements recently enjoyed breakfast out in South Paris. She and friends, Ruth MacGregor, South Paris; Harriet Johnson, North Norway; Della Starbird, Oxford; Norma Chandler, Grand Junction, Col., formerly of South Paris; and Natalie Hobbs, Norway joined in the lively conversation. A grand time was had by all.

Esther and Olive Davis were in Lewiston Monday for glasses and Friday they went to Bridgton in honor of Olive's nephew, Arthur Andrews' birthday.

Franklin Grange is holding their musical program Aug. 18 at 7:30. The public is invited. Come and enjoy our music then.

Mrs. Peter Leeman (Darlene Hanscom) called on me Tuesday. She is back from Kodiak, Alaska, and is visiting friends and relatives for a month, then she is moving to a new assignment where her husband is stationed for the government.

Esther Davis and daughter, Patricia Tibbetts attended a family reunion at North Gray Saturday, at the home of Clinton Coolidge.

The lights went out on Curtis Hill around 6:30 a.m. Tuesday. I had no lights all morning. That means no water as it is pumped from a deep well for two houses.

Joyce Hathaway was called to Massachusetts Sunday to her daughter's, Mrs.

Fire department notes

During the week ending Aug. 2, the Bethel Fire Department received contributions toward the $11,000 needed to purchase the Jaws-of-Life rescue apparatus from the following: Northern Oxford Health and Service Council (Bethel Area Health Center), Tom and Sue Hutchins, and in memory of David R. Myers. These contributions bring the total current fund total to $1,621.77.

Hugh and Linsley Chapman have placed a bucket for cash donations at their counter in Edelweiss.

Fire Department calendars have been received and will be delivered over the next two weeks.

John Niro. Her daughter Jane gave birth to a boy the first of the week in Milford, Mass.

Franklin Grange joined with Norway and Pleasant Pond Granges for the last of the three point meetings at Norway Grange Hall. Pleasant Pond members held the chairs and Norway put on a beautiful supper. Franklin put on the following program: opening song; prayer for U.S., Anna Henderson Sumner; "Hello, Remember Me" read by Lettie Brooks; "Fifty Stars for Old Glory" read by Paul Billings with Olive Davis pointing out the stars; "Yankee Doodle Dandy" by all. Franklin Grange orchestra furnished the music, even with the old washing tub as a bass, played by Lettie Brooks; Fred Judkins had a skit with several helpers and Charlotte Cole played her guitar and harmonica; Russell Yates gave comic recitations; Bertha Benoit rendered two solos with Dot at the piano; a skit with Carl Brooks at the radio trying to find a program to listen to; Dot Canwell whistled; Fred Judkins, Chester Hayes and Roberta Rainey put on a comic skit; Peggy Blake read the closing thought; the closing song was "Good Night, Grangers."

The Community Club supper was a sell out with 70 in attendance and plenty to eat. We tried to beat the heat. The very heavy thundershower held off until we were home. We were glad to welcome former neighbors and members, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hyam and friend from Florida; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chamberlain and Robin from Oxford Trailer Park; also Mr. and Mrs. Roland Lord of Bryant Pond; several new people from Bethel and Rumford; and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reidy. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cordwell received free suppers. Earl is diabetic but he loved the shortcake. One has to have a treat once in awhile. We hope no one went home hungry.

Arnold Coffin, who has been fed through a tube in his stomach for the last six months, has been trying to eat a bite once in awhile. He has had a dixie cup of ice cream several times, filling from custard pie and a tiny shortcake at the supper. Someone has to be present when he eats it in case he has to go to the hospital. A trap in his throat doesn't flip shut due to a stroke, so the food goes into his lungs and can cause a lot of coughing. He enjoyed every bite and we just hope he doesn't overdo the eating. While Doris Lawrence is in the hospital, I'll try to keep an eye on him.

Mrs. Faye Abbott has been at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Newton at Mechanic Falls this week while recuperating from surgery.

The 61st reunion of the descendants of Asa Freeman and Florilla Dunham Ellingwood will be held Sunday, August 10, at Howard and Lois Ellingwood's camp on Pleasant Pond, West Sumner.

Mrs. Nancy Turner, Saugus, Mass., called on Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher, but Uncle Joe was fishing, so she had a nice visit with Aunt Evelyn and her cousin Rhoda Labbe who was at Evelyn's.

The opening day at the blueberry hill in Oxford was rained out but the berries may be better by waiting a day. A little rain can make a big difference.

A moose has been seen near Dave Broberg's many times in the last two weeks. He likes the swamp.

Callers at Lawrences: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Penley Sr., Odell Heath, Joe Kalinowski, Arnold Coffin, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher and Corrie, Ruth Chandler and Evelyn Herrick brought in a quart of lovely raspberries.

Doris Lawrence went to Stephens Memorial Hospital Thursday for surgery August 1. We wish her well.

With the North Waterford Fair starting Aug. 1 it sounds like a rainy weekend. If it doesn't rain, the wind will blow a gale. Always does.

In four weeks the school doors will open and the yellow buses will be on the road. Where did the summer go? It just came a few days ago.

Cornie McAlliff enjoyed the week he was at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond. He met lots of new girls and boys, had fun, good food and he wasn't homesick. Uncle Joe didn't go to

HOUSEWARMING PARTY

The Gilead Women's Club held a housewarming party for Mary Cole on Wednesday, July 23, at Georgie MacArthur's house.

A nice luncheon was served and Mary received many nice gifts for her new trailer.

Present were Georgie MacArthur, Linsley Chapman, Millie McLain, Edna Dupont, Emeline Heath, Linda Smith, Jeremy and Alicia, and Mary Cole. Rose Taylor sent a gift but was unable to attend.

see him for fear he would want to come home early, but he was OK. He passed the hunter's test and got a bear patch for his jacket and a card stating that he passed. He like the field trips.

Hanover

By DONNA WORCESTER

Boy Scouts from Rumford Point Troop 509 went to Camp Bomazeen in Belgrade the week of July 27 to Aug. 1. Those going to camp were Bob McPherson Jr., Shannon Couture, Brian Pingree and Mark McPherson. Boy Scout leader Robert McPherson also attended camp with Troop 509.

Telstar Association Girl Scout Day Camp took place July 21 through Aug. 1. Troops from Rumford, Dixfield, West Peru, Andover, Bethel, and Rumford Point attended the two week session at Cindy Blake's in Bethel. Girls from Rumford Point Troop 633 attending were Stephanie Couture, Janel Ippolito, Jessica Couture and Shelly Elliott. Three days each week the girls had swimming lessons. Allison Cyr of Hanover worked as a leader at the day camp site and assisted with the swimming lessons. While at day camp the girls worked on requirements to earn special acorn patches including nature hikes, outdoor cooking safety, planning meals, arts and crafts, and many other outdoor activities and games.

Swimming lessons at Howard Pond were completed July 31. Water safety instructor Sarah Susbury reported the classes and participants involved in this year's lessons. Early Beginners were Jill Dunton, Tammy Dymont, Lynn Smith, Stacy and Joshua Swan, and Jason Murphy. Beginners Class consisted of Ramsey Bean, Steven Byam, Brian, Jenny and Brad Worcester. Advance beginners were Dusty Mills, Cory Smith, Daren Worcester, and Kristy Murphy. Taking part in Swimmer Class were Darcie Ames, Ryan Marchildon, Kimball Payne and Danny Baker. David Payne completed Advanced Swimmer and those completing Advanced Lifesaving were Allison Cyr, Kevin DeSalle and Jane Payne. Many students and parents expressed appreciation for the excellent instruction provided by Sarah Susbury, this year's swimming instructor.

Gardner Roberts Memorial Library sponsored a food sale and yard sale on Aug. 2 at the Knights of Pythias Hall in Hanover. Library Association members sold home baked food, hot dogs, coffee and cold drinks to help pay for library expenses. Several families joined it by selling yard sale items to those who passed by.

Howard Pond Campers Association is having their annual covered dish supper at the Rumford Point Congregational Church on Aug. 9 at 6 p.m. Association members have been asked to bring a covered dish and enjoy each other's company while having a scrumptious supper. Also planned by the Howard Pond Campers Association is a flea market and lawn sale to be held along Route 2 on Saturday, Aug. 16, at 10 a.m. HPCA officials are listing Sunday, Aug. 17, at 12 noon as the rain date.

TEEN CHALLENGE AT BETHEL

A group of young men with their leaders from Teen Challenge in Brockton, Mass., will be at the Bethel Gospel Center Sunday, Aug. 10, at 10 a.m. Teen Challenge works with young people who suffer from chemical abuse. They have a very high rate of cure. The public is invited to join in hearing some of the testimonies of these young people and their leaders. The Bethel Gospel Center is located on Route 26, Bethel.

Ben Gordon had a cookout for friends and neighbors at his camp on the mountain. The rain did not materialize so even though it was hazy the view was just beautiful. Ben's father, Michael Gordon, Canton, N.Y., and a friend, Ellen Levinger, who flew in Thursday from San Francisco, Calif., helped. Other friends helped with cooking hamburgers, hotdogs, and onions. Salads were in great abundance both fruit, vegetable, macaroni and others. Potato chips and desserts were also plentiful. As usual Charlie and Ruth Mason also helped. The road up had been fixed and even with the heavy rains Friday night was not that bad. Neighbors from the road were Elaine, Shilo, and Misty Hutchins; Dan and Sally Hannon; Alberta and Ernest Angevine; Victor, Judy, Jessica, Sarah and Vicky Coolidge; Frank and Sid Murphy; Dick and Sue Angevine; Les Lapham; Debbie, Rusty, Ryan and Dawn Seames; Bob and Joyce Stearns; Frank and Sylvia Benson; Joe and Gerry Shimamura; Rolie and Phil Glines; Frank, Clarice and George Gibson; Charles III, Kathy, Jennifer, Charles IV, and Meredith Mason; Steve, Pat, Brian and Eric Anderson; Lennie, Becky, Jon and Jeni Shaw. Also from our road: summer visitors Frank and Evelyn Aylward of Connecticut, and Bill Penner of Plattsburgh, N.Y. From Bethel: Bob and Polly Davis; Becky Kendall; Betty Blake, Roxie, Scott and Janna Mason, also Scott Mason was visiting relatives; Barbara Brown; Louise Lincoln; Carol Mason Wight; Pat and Grammie Murphy; Sheri Angevine Cordova and baby daughter, Santana, of Hobbs, N.M., who are visiting her folks, Dick and Sue Angevine; Matthew, Melinda, and baby son, Steven Bishop, Bucksport; Gordon and Joan Irish, Waitsfield, Vt.; Don and Nancy Demas, Waitsfield, Vt.; Bill Richards, Bangor; Roy Murphy, West Bethel; Bill and Lea Murphy, Alameda, Calif.; Lee, Terry, Beth, Diana, and baby, Caroline Blake, Augusta; Mari Iwasaki, Tokyo, Japan; Harlan and Gertrude Hutchins, Bethel; David, Brenda, Tabatha, Sabrina and Kasey Mason, Gilead. We left about 4:30 p.m. and a couple who I didn't know were on their way up the mountain. Others may have come later.

Frank and Evelyn Aylward had his sister and husband, Dr. Horace and Alice Hunt, Livingston, Ala., visiting for a week. The Hunts first time in Maine.

Haven't been able to call for news as I am trying to help Mom and other family members with Dad. He is bedridden and one of his questions is, "Was there any mail?" His address is George Allen, Buck Hill Apt. 19, South Paris, Maine 04281.

Aug. 2, Sheri Angevine Cordova, Kristy, Tim and Rick Angevine, Victor and Judy Coolidge, honored Dick and Sue Angevine, to a 25th anniversary party at the Bethel Legion Hall. Debbie Seames helped the girls decorate the three-tier cake Sue and Kristy had made, with pink and white frosting. Other friends and relatives helped by bringing food. About

BRYANT POND ARTISAN TO EXHIBIT IN BAR HARBOR

Nearly 4,000 people will visit Mount Desert Island High School in Bar Harbor on Aug. 15, 16 and 17 to see the work of 60 Maine Maine artisans at the 11th annual Directions Craft show. Among the exhibitors will be ceramist Marcel Polak of Bryant Pond. He is a juried member of Directions, a statewide professional craft organization which sponsors four exhibitions of its members' work during the year.

The show will open Friday, Aug. 15 from 6-9 p.m., and continues on Saturday, Aug. 16, and Sunday, Aug. 17, from 10-5 both days. Lunches will be available and admission is free.

The Bar Harbor show will feature a wide range of fine handcrafts—from traditional raku pottery to bas-relief sculpture; from handspun, handknit angora hats to one-of-a-kind birch bark baskets. Handwoven rugs, clothing and accessories, jewelry, stained glass, quilts, furniture, note cards and even a handbuilt wooden canoe will be on display.

89 attended. The hall was decorated with white bells and pink and white streamers. They had a money tree. Friends from Portland, Russell and Sandra Carson, wired a bouquet of flowers. Dick had a white boutonniere of white carnations and yellow silk rose, and Sue had a corsage of white carnations and yellow roses.

28th ANNUAL TURKEY SUPPER AT EAST STONEHAM AUG. 28

Thursday, Aug. 14, is the date for the 28th annual turkey supper at the East Stoneham Congregational Church vestry. The supper will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. rain or shine.

This event was first presented in 1958 at the East Stoneham schoolhouse with the cooperation of summer friends and local people. The proceeds were to equip the school cafeteria and provide hot lunches for the area school children. This project was accomplished in two years.

In 1960 the supper activities were moved to the church grounds and are now sponsored by the East Stoneham Church and community.

The supper has been a success each year with more than 300 pounds of turkey and 80 dozen ears of corn being consumed. The turkeys are prepared by the Chef's Table in Norway and the corn is purchased from Don Buzzell of Fryeburg.

The menu this year includes in addition to the turkey and corn-on-the-cob, stuffing, gravy, hot rolls, cucumbers, tomatoes, potato chips, cranberry sauce, pickles, all kinds of cake, iced tea and coffee—all you can eat.

This is a real community effort with many volunteering their services. Some of the early workers have "passed on" but memories of their hard work and tireless effort in this project still lingers with those who carry on.

The community spirit is still strong and active and the contributions over the years are gratefully acknowledged and appreciated.

Our sympathy to the Robert Anderson family on the recent loss of his father. Mr. and Mrs. John Hindman of Windham were overnight visitors last Sunday of his grandmother, Mrs. Elmira Doyen. Mrs. Winona Verrill of South Paris was a caller there Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tanguay and family of Gorham, N.H., occupied the Jimmy Kimball cottage this week.

Mrs. Carleton Rugg babysat her two little grandchildren over the weekend. She took them back to Lewiston on Monday with Mrs. Christine Kimball. They also visited Christine's brother-in-law, Waldo Bickford in Monmouth who is convalescing after amputation of his lower leg.

Mrs. Rita Wilson brought a friend, Mrs. Amy Tyler of Chuluota, Fla., to visit Mr. Christine Kimball Tuesday.

Mrs. Irene Anderson is babysitting her little grandson David while his mother is in the hospital.

I visited the Bean-Turner family in Otisfield Monday while Norma was at her class in Portland.

Mrs. Nancy Davis was in Oakland this week as a member of the Maine Assessment Team on evaluation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Connolly, Jerry, Andrew and Nicholas of Little Silver, N.J., are spending two weeks at her mother's former home here.

Rev. Jean Bass of Bethel and Josh Putnam from North Carolina have been recent callers here.

Very heavy thundershowers hit this area last Saturday night (July 26), lighting striking the Hausman-Rogers home and leveling it. Another heavy shower hit us again this Friday night (Aug. 1). There has been almost steady showers and rain all the days between.

- Old-old building method is new again: tamped earth houses, made with 3 parts clay, 7 parts sand, plus Portland cement and water, the mixture set in wooden forms. Walls are smooth, hard, and naturally insulated.

- Terra-cotta tile floors can be protected with polyurethane to keep them from soaking up stains. Because tiles are porous, it takes several coats.

- Create a shallow, easy-inventory pantry by removing part of a wall and setting shelves between the studs. Paint pantry doors to match the wall.

- Be sure to use a heavy-duty extension cord for your electric hedge trimmer or lawn mower. The drop in voltage from a light-gauge extension cord may cause your power equipment to labor and overheat.

- A family with a median income ($27,940) could qualify for an 80 percent mortgage on a median-price existing house ($74,800) as of last December, the National Association of Realtors reported. Lower interest rates helped make this possible.

COSTUMED CHARACTERS FROM THE KORA TEMPLE FUNSTERS made Andover's Olde Home Day parade a big success last Saturday. The weather, which cleared just in time for the festivities, also played a part in bringing out the large crowd.

FIRST PLACE IN THE FLOAT CONTEST was this Statue of Liberty creation by the Percival, Swan and Kerchner families.

Andover's Olde Home Day 1986

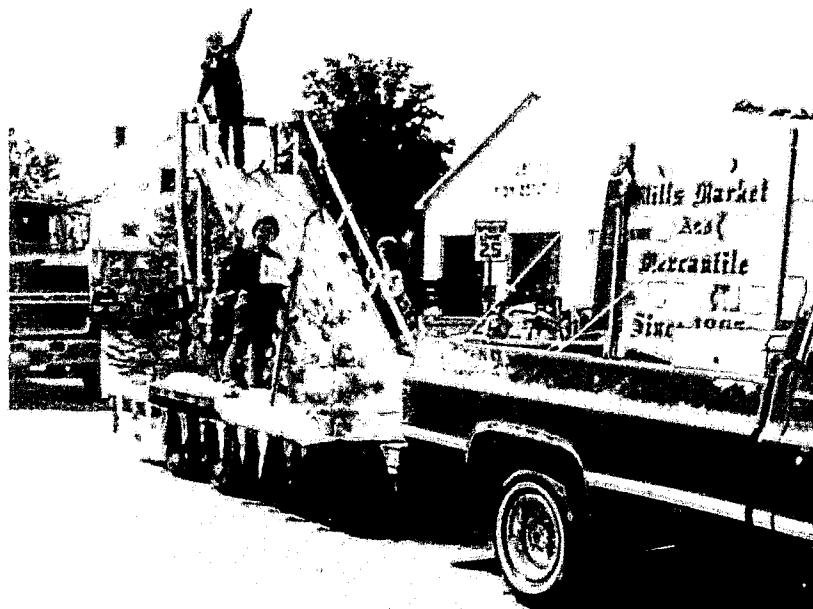

Sharon Hutchins had one of the flea market tables on the Common.

THE MORTON FAMILY, OF ANDOVER, HAD GOOD SEATS for the parade—perched on the hood of their car. They are Sue, Benjamin and George.

GIVING HIS COW CHIP a mighty heave, Brad Walker, of Norton, Mass., shows the strain of competition. The chips, collected by Boy Scouts at the Bailey farm, were dried out in a microwave to make them suitable for tossing. The longest toss of the day in the Cow Chip Flip was 145 feet.

THE MILLS MARKET FLOAT took second place in the parade, whose theme was: Andover, a Home for All Seasons. On the float, which depicted a ski slope, were Troy Mills, Trina Mills, and Suzanne and Wesley Richardson.

Ellen Greeke found it easy to get rid of a litter of kittens on the Andover Common during Olde Home Day.

THE JUDGES HAD THEIR HANDS FULL (and their mouths, too) trying to pick a winner from among the dozens of pies entered in the pie contest at Andover's Olde Home Day. The pies were made by women and children in town, and proceeds from the sale of the pies will go towards getting new robes for the choir of the First Congregational Church. The judges are, left to right, Dave Anderson, Michael Bean and Rex Thurston.

WINNERS (with their trophies) in the cow chip-flipping contest were: Jackie Gammon, of Andover (women's division), Dorothy McPherson, of Rumford Point (girls' division), Kevin Fogg, of Gorham (boys' division), and Dale McLaskey, of Kezar Falls (men's division). Ellen and Woody Greeke (in back) organized the event.

FOURTEEN-MONTH-OLD BRUCE COX wasn't so sure he wanted to make friends with Mickey Mouse during Andover's Olde Home Day parade last Saturday. Leslie Mills Vienneau lends an encouraging hand.

PEOPLE CAME FROM ALL OVER TO ANDOVER'S OLDE HOME DAY. Above, Marguerite Morin, of Raynham, Mass., makes a purchase from Chris Averill, of Rumford.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Howe took Dustin Howe to visit Dr. and Mrs. John Hart in Bangor for a week.

Mrs. Floribel Haines worked at the Dr. Moses Mason House Thursday.

Fred Haines was in Auburn Saturday on business.

Mrs. Carol Hardenbrook of New London, N.H., visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hastings one day last week.

Dirk Smith of Bucksport is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Harrington this week.

Matt Clark of Dayton, Ohio; Clayton Bartlett of Kennebunk; Otis Bartlett and Jack Gothreau of Berlin, N.H.; Mrs. Dorothy Graves of Bethel; and Mrs. Vivian Barlow of East Andover were visitors at the Bartlett Homestead last week.

Jeremy Twitchell is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cross in Barrington, N.H., this week.

Miss Velora Kimball and Bruce Tuominen of Yarmouth visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball over the weekend.

Mrs. Kimball and Miss Kimball were shopping in South Paris Saturday.

Mrs. Teresa Brown and daughter, Shari, of Litchfield visited Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball, Friday.

Mrs. John Foster of Andover, Mrs. Walter Hamlin of South Waterford, Mrs. Richard Stearns of Rumford Corner, Mrs. Jo Tyler of Dixfield, and Mrs. Myra Foster attended the play "Little Me," in Brunswick, Sunday. It was very good.

Ellie LeComte was called to the Colebrook hospital where she works as surgical nurse following an accident at North Stratford.

Many years ago I had the sad experience of hitting a dog which dashed out in front of my car and it was so traumatic I hoped never to have a repeat, but unhappily, I did. I feel badly for everyone involved and concerned including the animal.

Shannon Bernier of Dallas, Tex., is staying with her grandparents for several days.

A caring citizen was at the right place at the right time to prevent a pile of garbage (being) left in the highway. A motorist had stopped to clean after an apparent case of car sickness or other ill smelling waste and had tucked the mess beneath the vehicle apparently planning to drive away and leave it there. He took it with him.

I purchased two packages of batteries at a store in South Paris which had 2 or 3 price tags stuck on them, the clearest being $2.19. When I got home, I found

Andover

By LAURA HUTCHINS

After having rain nearly every day this week, most plant life is looking greener. Thanks to whoever did the rain dance! Jane Rich and Shirley Gammon, East Andover, returned home last week after spending a few days in Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sennett Jr., East Andover, have been on vacation and visiting in Prince Edward Island, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chenery have been spending some time at their camp on Garland Pond this week.

On Sunday, July 27, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hutchins joined other family members at the Rowe reunion, held in Oxford at the home of Martha Birney. Although it rained most of the way there, it stopped and just stayed cloudy. The children (young and old) were able to be outside. It was a good day for getting reacquainted with first, second, third and fourth cousins. This was our mother's side of the family. A reunion is held somewhere every year but always there are new faces, that didn't make it before. The new attraction at the Birney home was a huge rock in the back yard, just made for children to climb on. Beautiful flowers were everywhere with many birds flitting here and there.

It is good to see George Ladd getting out again after his recent surgery.

Lester White, East Andover, underwent surgery on his nose this week.

Howard (Buster) Marston, Andover, was admitted to Maine Medical Center in Portland on Monday, where he underwent surgery on Wednesday. At this writing he is in the S.C.U. there.

Mrs. Phillip Learned, Andover, underwent surgery at Maine Medical Center on July 31. A wish for a speedy recovery is extended to all of the above and anyone else that I may have missed who has been ill.

Sympathy is extended to Colista Morgan (Greenwood City correspondent) on the death of her husband, Clyde. We have known both for many years, as both my mother and father were born and lived there and went to school there.

Laura Piatkowski, with children Joshua and Sara of Bethel, are visiting a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones of East Andover. All three helped with the Ladies Aid luncheon Thursday, which was much appreciated.

another tag reading "Sale—2 for $5." Checking my sales slip, I found I'd paid $5 for these. Mike said "they saw you coming." They'll look hard and long before they spy me again.

The 40th Fuller reunion was held at West Bethel at the home of Dick and Kathy Farren on Sunday. Those attending from Bryant Pond area were Verna Swan, Clara Whitman, Arlene and Howard MacKillop; Greg and Tony MacKillop, Keith Swan, Andrea, Donnie, Chris and Ben Hoyt, Claudia MacKillop, Mike, Heidi and Lisa.

Franklin Grange #124 will meet on Monday, August 4 for a historical meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Howe are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, eight pound, eight ounce Zane Eric Howe, at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, July 29. He joins a sister

Samantha. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Howe and Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Ricker.

There will be a public baked bean and hot dish supper at the Rumford Center Grange hall on Saturday, Aug. 9, serving from 5 to 7 p.m., followed by a dance with Richard Felt and his band at 8 o'clock.

Forty-eight family members were present for the Farnum-Buck reunion at the Woodstock Town Hall and at Abbott's Anchorage Sunday, July 13. A delicious baked bean, casserole and salad dinner was served by Bertha MacIntyre and Dorothy Farnum. The business meeting was called to order by the president, Roland Lord. The Buck family history was given by Wilma Day and family lineage charts by Stephen Sessions. Officers for next year are: president, Roland Lord; vice president, Albert Farnum; secretary, Bernice Easter; treasurer, Erma Lowe; dinner committee, Carolyn Brown, Bertha MacIntyre and Dorothy Farnum; entertainment committee, Wilma Day and Marilla Couch. Next year the reunion will be held the second Sunday in July at the Woodstock Town Hall followed by swimming at Abbott's Anchorage. Old family pictures of previous reunions were enjoyed by those present. The oldest Farnum-Buck descendant was Nancy Lord; oldest Farnum descendant was Richard Farnum and the oldest Buck descendant was Othie Buck. Youngest present were Elizabeth Stevens and Mara Couch, both born Jan. 9. Family member coming the longest distance was Wayne Lord from Texas.

Notes from Adult & Community Education

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program has an exercise class in progress on Mondays and Thursdays at Telstar Regional High School from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Pat Morey is the instructor, and encourages new additions to the class. The fee is $1 per week. To enroll, call the Adult Education Office, 824-2780.

The Adult Learning Center's summer session continues to be held on Tuesday evenings at Telstar Regional High School. There will be a Learning Center class on Aug. 12, before a four-week break. The July 29 class saw the addition of four students. Two students are enrolling in the adult high school diploma classes this fall. They completed their assessment process at the center, and will do some preparatory work during the weeks before the fall classes start. One student has the goal of passing the GED exam, and took the GED Practice Test on Tuesday. This test identifies areas in which the student should study prior to taking the actual GED exam. The fourth new student is a high school graduate who is interested in going on to further study and is completing some interest surveys and identifying options open to her. Another Learning Center student took the math section of the GED, and was able to see that her score was significantly higher than that which she received on the Practice Test taken in June. Her secret? Four weeks of conscientious brush-up work on math.

Anyone who would like to begin the process of earning their adult high school diploma or GED, or who would like help in identifying educational or occupational goals, is invited to drop by the Adult Learning Center on Aug. 12 between 6:30 and 9:30. Individual help in such areas as spelling, reading comprehension, math skills, or writing skills is also available for adults. For further information, call Cathy Newell, 824-2780 or 824-2089.

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education staff extends congratulations to the students who successfully completed the Telstar Regional High School Summer School, under the able direction of Dan Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Kevin York

YORK - PALMER

Miss Wanda Palmer and Kevin York were united in marriage July 12, at the Baptist Church in Bryant Pond.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Palmer of Bryant Pond. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank York of Bryant Pond.

The maid of honor was Janie Hinkley, cousin of the bride, and the best man was Stephen Palmer, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the town hall in Bryant Pond with many relatives and friends attending. Brad Hooper and his band played musical selections at the reception.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

Here is a portrayal of a typical "Main Street" by author Sinclair Lewis—

"Our Main Street is the continuation of Main Streets everywhere. The story would be the same in Ohio or Montana, in Kansas or Kentucky."

"Main Street is the climax of civilization. That this Ford car might stand in front of the Bon Ton Store, Hannibal invaded Rome and Erasmus wrote in Oxford cloisters. What Ole Jensen the grocer says to Ezra Stowbody the banker is the new law for London, Prague, and the unprofitable isles of the sea; whatsoever Ezra does not know and sanction, that thing is heresy, worthless for knowing and wicked to consider..."

"Such is our comfortable tradition and sure faith. Would he not betray himself an alien cynic who should otherwise portray Main Street, or distrust the citizens by speculating whether there may not be other aliens?"

Thanks to Robert Billings, Mary Billings, Larry Billings, and Annie Crockett for watching the museum.

Thanks to Francis Brooks for recent donations.

The next society meeting will be the annual picnic (Aug. 9) at 5 p.m. at Eva Billings Twitchell's house on the hill.

GLASS REPLACEMENT: Auto Glass—Comb. Windows—Sales and Repairs. Twin Town Wood siding and cedar shingle roof. 2. Outdoors, 5 ft. x 5 ft. wood frame with wood siding and cedar shingle roof. Both buildings are located at the same site, in the Town of Chatham, N.H. The site is about 1/2 mile north of Chatham center, on the east side of the road known locally as the "Chatham Highway." The buildings are approximately 100 feet from the road and are accessible for moving.

3. The Forest Service is offering the buildings for sale, but not the underlying or surrounding land.

Anyone interested is requested and urged to inspect the buildings and site location, so that he may intelligently determine value versus cost of removal and site cleanup. The buildings must be removed by October 31, 1986. The site must also be cleaned up by that date. Time extensions will not be considered.

The buildings will be sold to the purchaser making the highest lump sum bid for each. The Forest Service will consider selling the buildings to a purchaser for the consideration of removing them and cleaning up the site.

NOTE: If the buildings are not sold, the Forest Service will remove and destroy them. Sale will take place on August 18, 1986, at 2:00 p.m. in the Laconia Federal Building, Laconia, N.H. MOLLYCKETT DAY THANK YOU

The Bethel Lions Club wishes to thank all area businesses, organizations, and individuals who made this year's Mollyckett Day a success. Included with this thank you, the Lions Club would like to correct an article in the July 23rd issue of the Bethel Citizen. That article read that the Last Straw Band was sponsored by the Bethel Inn and the Sunday River Skiway. The sponsorship of the Last Straw Band should have read "by the Bethel Lions Club, Bethel Savings Bank and Casco Northern Bank." Also, the Fiddlers' Contest was sponsored by area businesses and the Bethel Lions Club; also, the Old Timer's Band that performed throughout the afternoon was sponsored by the Bethel Lions Club.

The parade, under the supervision of the Bethel Lions Club, had as winners: 1st place, Prim's Pharmacy; 2nd, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce; 3rd, Troop 565, Bethel Boy Scouts.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL SURPLUS PROPERTY

The following described structures are surplus to the needs of the White Mountain National Forest, and the Federal Government. They are no longer needed nor are they suitable for any other official purpose.

1. Woodshed, 10 ft. x 12 ft. wood frame with wood siding and cedar shingle roof.

2. Outdoors, 5 ft. x 5 ft. wood frame with wood siding and cedar shingle roof.

Both buildings are located at the same site, in the Town of Chatham, N.H. The site is about 1/2 mile north of Chatham center, on the east side of the road known locally as the "Chatham Highway." The buildings are approximately 100 feet from the road and are accessible for moving.

The Forest Service is offering the buildings for sale, but not the underlying or surrounding land.

Anyone interested is requested and urged to inspect the buildings and site location, so that he may intelligently determine value versus cost of removal and site cleanup. The buildings must be removed by October 31, 1986. The site must also be cleaned up by that date. Time extensions will not be considered.

The buildings will be sold to the purchaser making the highest lump sum bid for each. The Forest Service will consider selling the buildings to a purchaser for the consideration of removing them and cleaning up the site.

NOTE: If the buildings are not sold, the Forest Service will remove and destroy them. Sale will take place on August 18, 1986, at 2:00 p.m. in the Laconia Federal Building, Laconia, N.H. Sale is by Sealed Bid. The buildings and any debris must be entirely removed. The removal and site cleanup will be subject to the inspection and administration of the District Ranger, Chad Converse. He will be the Forest Service officer in charge of administering the removal. Pre-bid inspections should be arranged through the District Ranger, Bridge Street, Bethel, Maine 04217—Telephone 207-824-2134. Copies of the bid may be obtained from the District Ranger's Office. 31

LAST CONCERT COMING UP AT CHAMBER MUSIC FESTIVAL

The Sebago-Long Lake Region Chamber Music Festival will conclude its 1986 summer season next Tuesday, Aug. 12, with an 8 p.m. concert in the Bridgton Academy chapel, in North Bridgton. This final program in the popular series is sponsored by the Maine State Commission on the Arts and Humanities.

James and Laurie Kennedy, completing their first year as festival music directors, have programmed three great works of music for what promises to be a brilliant finale to an outstanding season. The program will begin with the "Brandenburg Concerto No. 5," perhaps the most-performed of the group of six concerti by J.S. Bach.

"The Quintet for Strings," K. 516, by Mozart—a work for two violins, two violas and 'cello—will conclude the first half of the program.

Following intermission, the well-known "Octet for Strings," by Felix Mendelssohn, a work for double string quartet, will bring to a close the festival's 14th season.

Tickets are $7 and may be reserved by calling 647-2849, or 583-4013. Any tickets remaining will be sold at the door on concert night, beginning at 7:15 p.m. Festival concerts are generally sold out by concert time, so early arrival is advisable.

185 arrive for start of 7 new programs at NTL

About 185 participants and staff arrived in Bethel last Monday for the start of seven new programs in the NTL Institute series of workshops being held here.

The Sunrise Seminars, open to all interested persons from the Bethel area at no charge, cover a new set of topics this week. These 45-minute presentations by NTL staff members begin at 7:30 a.m. in the Maine Room, behind the NTL Conference Center on Broad Street. With a new staff group, the changing topics have included talks by Ronald Lippitt on Tuesday and Paula Luganini on Wednesday.

This week's remaining seminars will include the following:

• Thursday—Harold Bridger on "Countries and Organizations are Moving Further Apart While the World is Getting Smaller."

• Friday—Topic to be announced.

• Saturday—"Going Beyond Conflict," presented by members of the staff of the workshop called Beyond Conflict.

In addition to the morning seminars, there will be special afternoon presentations, also open to Bethelites. On Wednesday, People of Color will meet; on Thursday, Men's Issues will be discussed; and on Friday, there will be a meeting of Internationalists. These gatherings will all take place at 4 p.m. each day.

Bethel's international community is greatly enlarged this week by the presence of 15 foreign nationals in NTL's programs, apart from many others who come from Canada. Foreign countries represented include: Ireland, England, Scotland, Japan, Germany, India, Mexico, Holland, Costa Rica, Trinidad, and Singapore. The international contingent brings an even greater variety to the NTL community than the already diverse population, which comes from almost all of the separate states.

Authentic 1782 service at West Parish Church Sunday, Aug. 10

As part of Sudbury Canada Days, Bethel's West Parish Congregational Church will have a 1782 service and sermon Sunday, Aug. 10, at 10:30 a.m. Period dress is encouraged.

Dr. Harold Wilke, United Church of Christ minister with a summer home on Lake Christopher, will conduct the authentic service in the traditional Geneva gown (long, black robe) with white clerical tabs from the Moses Mason House. He will carry the traditional tri-corn hat worn by divines (ministers) and leave the musket at the door when he comes in to preach.

The sermon will include parts of a sermon preached by Rev. Enos Hitchcock the Sunday after Benedict Arnold was convicted of treason. It includes descriptions of the early years of the Revolutionary War.

"Families shall sit together toward the front. Decorum, however, requires that unmarried men of marriageable age shall sit to the rear of the center. Unmarried young women would best sit on the sides toward the front so that neither they nor the young men may be distracted from worship," from the 1782 service.

Following the sermon questions from the congregation are encouraged.

A historical display in the Garland Chapel will include photocopies of sermons preached in that period from Boston and Providence, R.I. Dr. Wilke is former chairman of the General Commission on Chaplains and Armed Forces Personnel in Washington, D.C. with responsibility for protestant chaplains of all faiths around the world. Some of his information and the tri-corn hat comes from his son, Rev. Christopher Wilke of Rhode Island, who, in addition to his ministerial responsibilities with the United Church of Christ, is chaplain of a recreated Revolutionary War brigade in that area. Dr. Wilke is currently working on a sequel to his book, "Creating the Caring Congregation." He has served for 20 years with the church and ministry division of the United Church of Christ.

HOLMES PARTICIPATES IN NAVAL REVIEW

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class John Holmes, a 1983 graduate of Telstar Regional High School, participated in the International Naval Review on July 4 as part of the Statue of Liberty Centennial Celebration while stationed aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Yorktown, homeported in Norfolk, Va.

Twenty-one naval ships from 14 countries joined 11 U.S. Navy ships in the review, with this being only the fifth such gathering of naval vessels in the history of the United States.

For the Yorktown, this review held special meaning. Not only did the cruiser celebrate her second birthday, but the Yorktown commemorated her namesake's visit to New York harbor as an original International Naval Review participant.

In 1893, when the Statue of Liberty was a newcomer, ships from 10 nations, including the gunboat USS Yorktown, commemorated the 400th anniversary of Columbus' discovery of America during the first International Naval Review in New York City.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION COMMISSIONER Dana Connors was in town last week to present a plaque to Bernard Powers, of Newry, who is the longest-serving employee of the department. Those taking part in the ceremony were, left to right, Bud Maynard, division engineer in the DOT, Rena Powers, Bernard Powers, Commr. Connors, and Alden Small, deputy commissioner, DOT.

Tri-Town Rescue

The auxiliary is planning a variety show Aug. 16 and 17 at the Agnes Gray School in West Paris at 7 p.m. Northern Atlantic will provide music Saturday night and Lee Moore and the Country Ridge Riders will provide music Sunday night. A variety of other local talent will round out the evening's entertainment.

Tri-Town had a good training session this month, in spite of poor weather. Members practiced in an outdoor car accident scene with five patients.

The foundation has been poured for the rescue barn this week.

The annual community birthday calendar sale is scheduled for the first two weeks in August. This calendar lists everyone's birthday or anniversary who purchases the calendar. For more information or to order a calendar, call Jane Chandler (674-2963).

The annual picnic is scheduled for Aug. 24. More details will be available later.

11 HEALTH CARE PROS OK'D FOR MAINE PLACEMENT

The U.S. Public Health Service has notified Human Services Commissioner Michael Pettit that Maine will receive an additional 11 health professionals for rural medically underserved areas in 1987.

The health professionals are selected and placed by the National Health Service Corps to serve as part of a plan to help them pay off their government-financed educational debts.

Pettit said placements will be made to a variety of organizations, including family practitioners at Eagle Lake Health Center, Bethel Area Health Center, Bucksport Regional Health Center, Jackman Regional Health Center, Regional Medical Center of Lubec, Harrington Community Health Center; podiatrists at Bucksport Regional Health Center and Regional Medical Center of Lubec; a dentist at Rangeley Dental Association and three psychiatrists at sites to be identified later. The names of individual professionals who will serve at these sites will be announced later this summer.

The department's Bureau of Medical

9th annual trappers weekend Aug. 22-23-24 in East Bethel

The 9th annual New England Trappers Weekend will again be held at Neil and Linda Olson's home in East Bethel, Friday-Saturday-Sunday, Aug. 22-23-24.

Approximately 1,500 to 2,000 people from half the states in the United States attend, and Mr. Olson would like to invite local people and businesses to attend, also.

There will be demonstrations on taxidermy, fur sewing, fishing contest for kids (12-3, Saturday), roast beef supper Saturday at 5, auction Saturday night at 7 with all kinds of goods, canoeing demos, and predator calling.

There will also be dog trials on Saturday at 4 o'clock and any local dog hunters are invited to bring and test out their dogs. "Harry's Special," a local dog, is favored to win this year. This event is always a crowd pleaser.

Also in attendance at all times will be "Spongy the Clown," a nationally-known entertainer for the amusement of young and old alike.

"Big John Murphy," an entertainer from Connecticut will also be doing his thing.

There will be something for young and old, male and female, and you are invited.

Services is responsible for developing plans and recommendations for assisting medically underserved areas which require National Health Service Corps placements.

According to Trish Riley, director of the Bureau of Medical Services, "We are particularly pleased this year because Maine received more than 50 percent of the 18 National Health Service Corps professionals allocated for New England."

Riley praised the contributions of the Maine Ambulatory Care Coalition, the Maine National Health Service Corps Advisory Committee and the staff of the Bureau of Medical Services for putting together substantial documentation to convince the federal government of the need for these services to rural Maine.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Last Wednesday, July 30, the board of directors met at 7:30 a.m. at the Casco Bank. We apologize to anyone who showed up Tuesday, as had been first announced. In the future, we will make every effort to keep everyone informed of last-minute changes.

A new publication—"The Maine Book"—is now available. This magazine covers the state, with a variety of a vacation ideas.

We hope all members are receiving their copies of "Maine Today" and "Maine Enterprise." If not, please contact the chamber office.

The general consensus on Mollycoddle Day was favorable. We would like to thank everyone for helping out that day. We have also had incidents brought to our attention which we will focus on more in preparation for next year's event.

The "Big E" agricultural fair in Springfield, Mass., Sept. 10-21, has been a big topic of discussion. We attended an exhibitors' conference July 29 in Augusta. We have booth coverage, but we need back-ups. Anyone who can volunteer a few days please let us know. We have an expense allowance, so you may want to get the details and consider it. We will be selling weathersticks as a promotional product to cover expenses.

Leon Favreau has offered his video equipment so that we can make a videotaped presentation of business, industry and tourism highlights of the area to take with us to the "Big E."

Local innkeepers met July 30 at 7 p.m. at The Bethel Inn and discussed Sunday River's 800-number service. It was agreed that Sunday River would take all reservations and charge us a percentage for any reservation they made. Anyone who did not attend and is interested in learning more can contact the chamber or Wende Gray, at Sunday River.

The next board meeting will be Aug. 19 at 7:30 a.m. at Casco Bank. All are welcome to attend.

R. CLYDE MORGAN

R. Clyde Morgan of Greenwood City died at his home in the Greenwood-Norway Road, early Wednesday morning, July 30, 1986.

He was born Aug. 11, 1907, at Greenwood, the son of Robert E. and Olive Swan Morgan. He received his education in the Greenwood schools.
